

make it monday

The Grand Hotel of First Day Feelings

My Grand Hotel of Feelings
Think about how you are feeling. Draw each feeling inside the hotel windows.
Your feelings can look like characters from the book, or might be colors, shapes, or words.
If you would like, add "lift-the-flap" fun to your windows when you are finished (see below).

FIRST WEEK OF SCHOOL
FUN!

Inspired by the book:
The Grand Hotel of Feelings

Materials:

crayons

scissors

glue

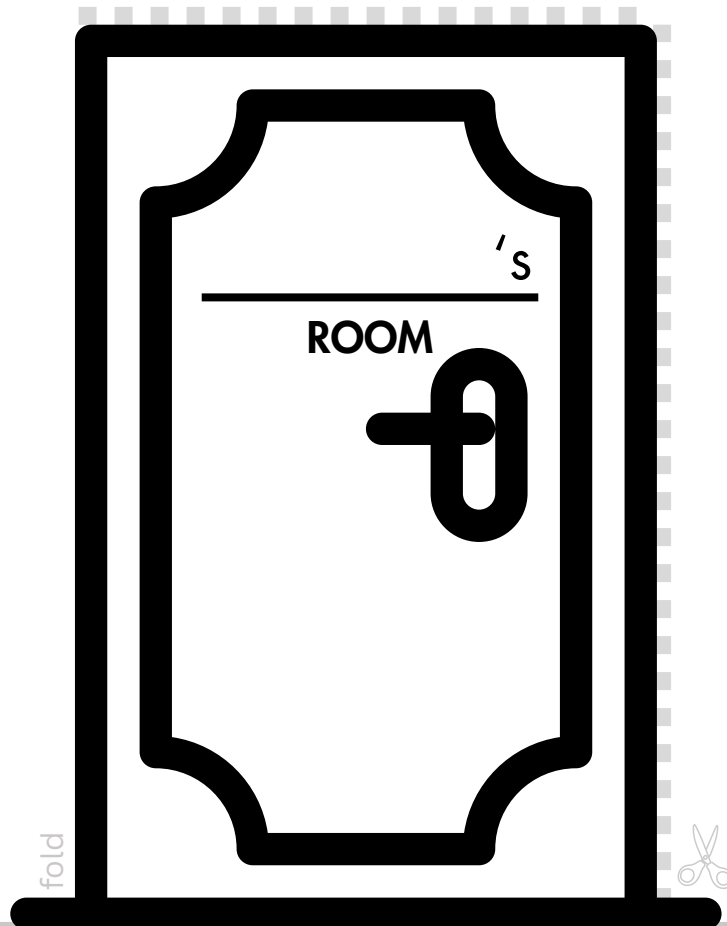

Class Project: Our Grand Hotel of First Day Feelings

Print 1 copy per student

Cut along dotted lines. Fold along "fold" lines. Open the door, and in the space behind the door draw the feeling (or feelings) that are "visiting" you on the first day of school. Your feeling(s) might look like a character from the story, or might just be colors or words. Create a class feeling hotel by hanging up projects in columns to resemble the hotel's interior from the book.

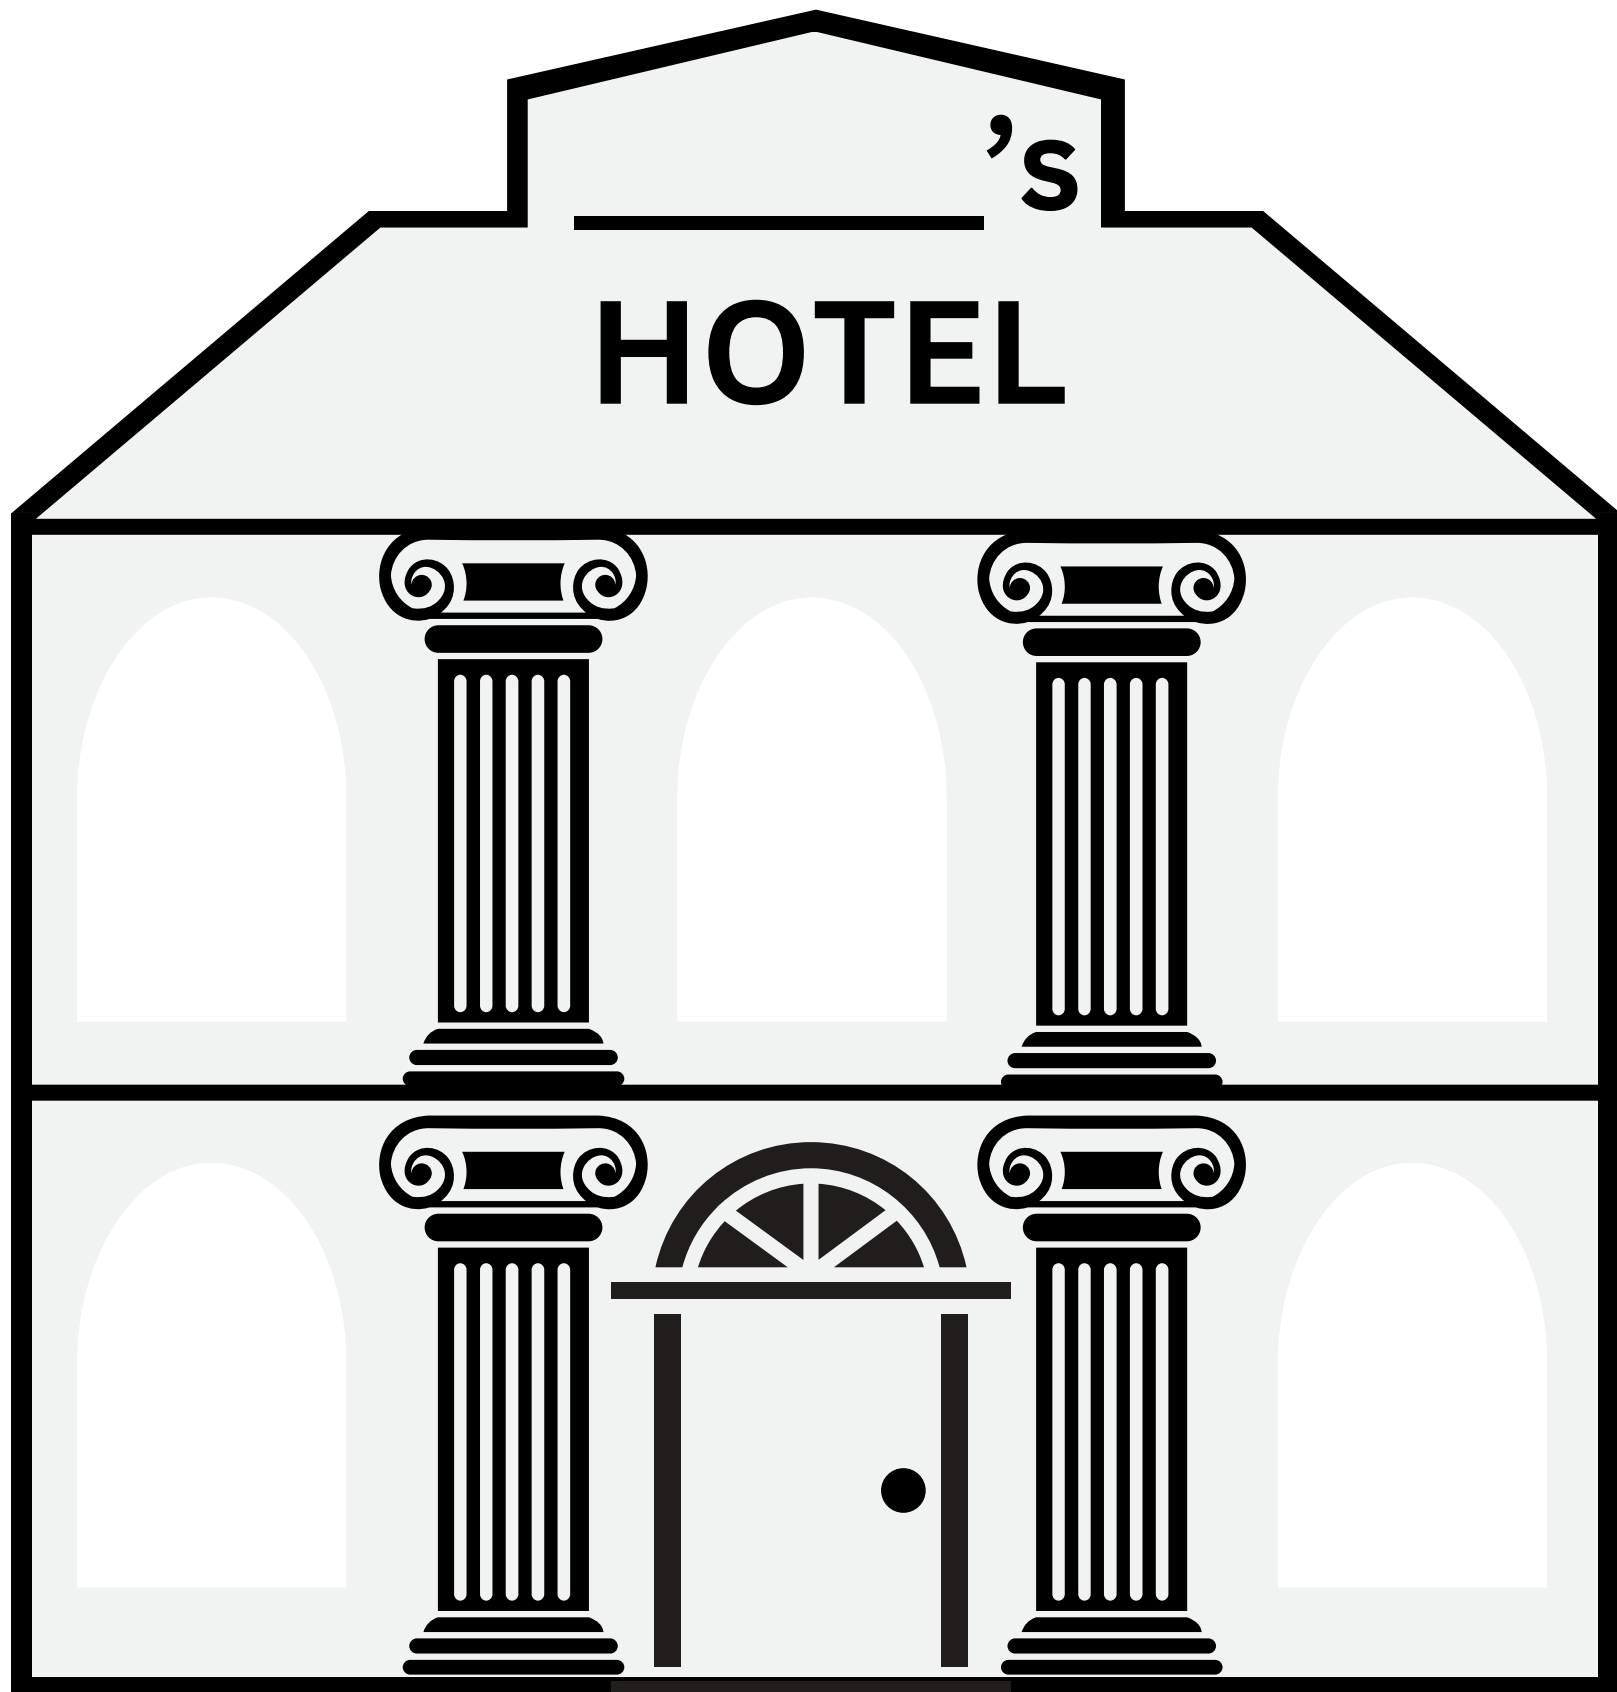

fold

My Grand Hotel of Feelings

*Think about how you are feeling. Draw each feeling inside the hotel windows.
Your feelings can look like characters from the book, or might be colors, shapes, or words.
If you would like, add "lift-the-flap" fun to your windows when you are finished (see below).*

OPTIONAL: Lift-the-flap Windows for “My Grand Hotel of Feelings”

Print 1 copy per student

Cut along dotted lines. Fold along “fold” lines. Add glue to the back of each rectangular flap, and add to each window to create “lift-the-flap” fun at your hotel.

